INTERFAITH EVENT IN MALMSBURY, SATURDAY FEBRUARY 13, 2021, 11 am

RSVP Instructions -- see below

This is an open invitation for you and your community members to join kehillat s'dot zahav Progressive Jewish Congregation for a multifaith event on Saturday February 13, from 11 am, in Malmsbury Botanic Gardens, led by environmentalist and interfaith personality Rabbi Jonathan Keren-Black (Leo Baeck Centre, Kew)

Those who attended a similar event last February will remember a convivial atmosphere seated under the shade of spreading cedar and cypress trees in the Malmsbury Botanical Gardens. The Malmsbury Town Hall supper room has been booked in case of hot or rainy weather

There will be some socialising until 11:30, then a shared religious celebration of nature. Faith leaders are invited to share a prayer, song or reading. Then there is the vegetarian lunch provided by KSZ (you are welcome to bring a veggie plate but no obligation).
